

21st Annual 2022 USA & Global Sustainability Tracker Consumer Study

Since 2002, the Institute's annual consumer research study devoted to social and environmental issues and the impact of sustainability initiatives on product purchase.

All Organizations Need Consumer Insight Into Sustainability To Respond Strategically

- ❖ Who the green/sustainability consumers are
- ❖ How do they interact in the marketplace
- ❖ What prices are they willing (or not) to pay for additional sustainability attributes
- ❖ What are the interactions between attitudes and behavior patterns
- ❖ What product benefits and attributes are driving their behavior
- ❖ What are the opportunities for further growth
- ❖ Where do consumers go for green information
- ❖ Where do consumers “acquire” green products
- ❖ What are the barriers to a sustainable lifestyle What, where, and how communication and messaging will resonate
